Denver University Will Send Strong Football Eleven to Try For Utah's Scalp Saturday

during the past week.

Since the game with Wyoming the wide-open style of work that has been comploved almost exclusively all fall has been done away with to a large extent, and a closely packed formation put into effect, which resembles to a large degree the old style mass formations. The reason for this is that Wyoming showed Ulah's line to be invincible, and with four downs allowed to make ten yards instead of three, Beunion thinks more consistent gains can be made by mass plays than by attempting trick formations and forward passes. This plugging game is also especially effective on a heavy field, and Denver has a team which is heavy and experienced, so that even if the method should be changed later, it is thought that the massed style of play will be safer against the powerful ministers.

The indications are that the Denver men are the strongest team in Colorado this fall, and they are determined to win the championship, if possible. This fact has aroused much interest at the university, and it is planned to revive all the old-time spirit by a series of yell practices and bon fires.

A rally was held at noon vesterday, at which it was decided to hold a meeting every noon until after the game on Saturday. It was also decided to ask P. J. Moran for the use of the large steam whistle which is employed on the boist at the new central building.

Convict an Enthusiast.

Whether there be any psychological connection between football and erime has not been fully determined yet, but be that as it may, the reputation of the university eleven has penetrated the university eleven has penetrated the walls of the state prison and has filled the inmates with enthusiasm. This enthusiasm was given vent yesterday when L. J. Campbell, a long-term prisoner at the penitentiary, wrote a letter to Coach Fred Bennion, expressing, on behalf of himself and his fellow prisoners, best wishes for a successful season and a desire that the "Mormons rim the Denverites."

Campbell has almost seven years more to serve at the pen, but he says that the first thing he is going to do after he gets out will be to see a football game. He thinks that if he remains of his best behavior that he will be allowed freedom long enough to see one of this

GRANITE ELEVEN BEATS GRAND JUNCTION, 30 to 3

One man cannot play against a whole team. This was what Anderson of Grand Junction, the right halfback, and the only real football player on this so-called team, tried to do yesterday. The Grand Junction team lost to Grandt by the score of 30 to 3. The Grand Junction players say that the reason for their defeat was that the Grand Junction school board did not favor the college game and therefore handicapped the eleven. The team, during the two games played here, showed that it was not in the class of the Utah teams.

The Granite boys showed yesterday The Granite boys showed yesterday that they have a very fast team. They can pull off a forward pass quickly and are not afraid of hard work. The game was not full of anything except bonehead playing and flunks by the visitors. One of the touchdowns was scored when Hamilton, Granite, took the bail. The umpire's whistle was heard. Everyone except Hamilton thought it was the referee's whistle and every player except Hamilton stopped.

BALK PROVES FATAL FOR BUCK O'BRIEN

terzog had lifted a fly to Speaker, Mey ers triplied to left center. It was a main-moth wallop, the ball singing past Speak-er with terrific speed. The heavy footed chief pounded around the paths with con-siderable speed and it is doubtful if any-one could have stretched the blow into a homer, as Speaker's return throw was a

BY R. W. LARDNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The following is the story of how O'Brien blew up and what happened thereafter. Hooper waited until he had Rube in two and three hole in the first, then he sent a bounder over second and beat it out, despite a great one-handed stop by Doyle. Harry was caught off first and run down, Marquard to Merkie to Fietcher to Merkie. Yerkes filed to Snodgrass, then Speaker walked and stole, but Lewis's low liner was bagged by Devore. Immediately thereafter the Giants began to go crazy and so did Boston's pitcher. Devore was easy but Doyle heat out his slow bounder to Yerkes. Larry stole because O'Brien gave him too long a lead. Snodgrass fanned, but Murray beat out a grounder to Wagner and Doyle took third. Buck was then found guilty of a belk, Doyle scoring and Murray taking third. Merkie's double to left did the same for Merkle. Herzog took third n Meyera's infield hit which Wagner did well to stop. On an attempted steal. Cady pegged to Yerkes and a good return would have nailed Herzos, but Steve heaved low. Herzy scoring and Meyers taking third. The chief came is on a squeeze play. Fietcher beating out his bunt. Red Sox Take Two.

The Sox came back with two, thanks to pinch hitter Engle. Gardner caromed a single off Rube's glove and Stahl beat out a hit to Doyle, Wagner fanned and Cady popped a foul to Meyers, but Engle, batting for O'Brien, doubled to left and drove in the two runners, Hooper's pop fly to Meyers ended the chapter.

Ray Collins set down the Glants in order in the New York half, fanning Devotes.

der in the New York half, fanning Devore.
Yerkes started the third with a single over second, but never got past first base, for Speaker filed to Snodgruss. Lewis fouled to Devore and Murray made a nice catch to Gardner's hard drive close to the right field seats.
With one out in the Giants' half, Morray singled to right but tried to take chances on Hooper's arm and was nipped trying to stretch it into a double. Merkle scratched an infield single in Gardner's direction, but was out stealing.

Snodgrass Nails Hard One.

The Sox had a chance in the fourth, but a pretty catch by Snodgrass spoiled it. Stahl beat his roller to Herzog. Wagner siapped one a mile, but Snodgrass went far back and hauled it in. Cady's single to right sent the manager to third, but Collins hit into a double play, started by Fletcher.

Speaker's arm saved Collins in the New York part. After Herzog had filed out. Mayers sent atriple to left center. Fletcher lifted a fly to Speaker, whose peg home scared the chief back to third. Marquard's hounder to Yerkes ended the round.

popped to Wagner. Devore kept on running on Snedgrass's easy fly to Hooper and was doubled off first.

Rube looked good in the sixth. He got Lewis on a foul to Meyer's and Gardner and Stabil fanned.

In New York's portion Hooper took Murray's short fly and Merkle pepped to Stabil. Cady and Gardner got solved up on Herzog's foul and Cady dropped it, but Charley died on a fly to Yerkes.

The Red Sox hit Marquard in round seven but not safely. Pube blocked down Wagner's hard bounder and pegged his man at first. Cady and Collins went down on long files to the outfield.

The eighth was comparatively soft for Rube. After Hooper had gone out, Yerkes singled through Doyle, his ground ball taking a bad hop. Speaker and Lewis lifted flies to Murray.

Devore was fossed out by Collins in the other half. Doyle fouled to Cady and Snedgrass, after scratching a Texas leaguer over Yerkes's head, was nalled stealing.

The ninth inning rally was a snare and a delusion. Gardner lifted to Snodgrass, Stabil filed to Murray and Wagner was logical survey, requesting the comm
